THE SCHOOL PRAYER

O God, our Heavenly Father, whose blessed Son, Jesus Christ, went about doing good and teaching the good news of Your Kingdom, we give you humble thanks for the inspiration of the founder of this School and for the lives and influence of those who, during the past years, have built up its traditions.

Help us, we humbly beseech You, to find the way of the Cross, and finding it, to follow more closely Him who on the Cross gave His life that we might have the Light of Life: through Him who is the true Light, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

CENTENARY TEXT

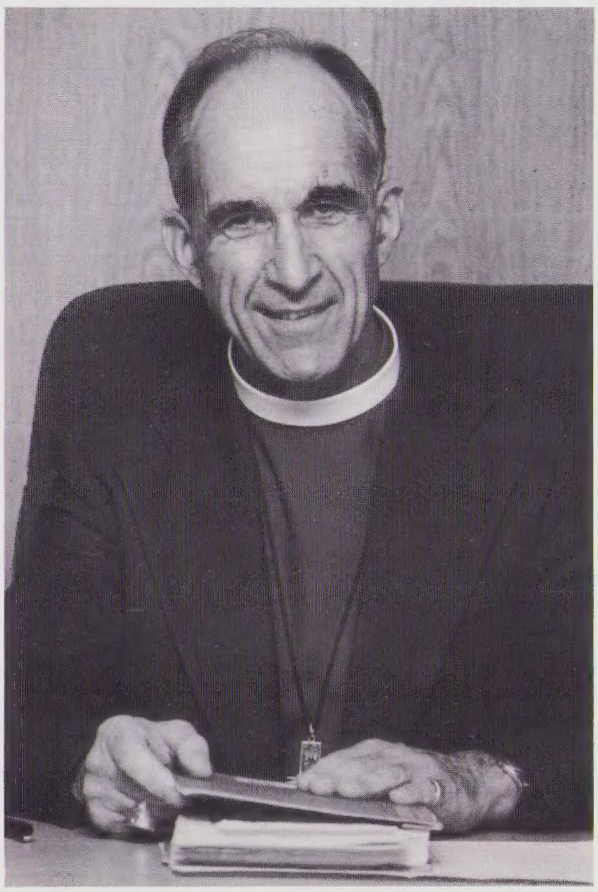
The 100th Speech Night of the School was held in the Sydney Town Hall on Friday, 6th December.



▲The special guest for the evening was the Primate of Australia, The Most Reverend J.B.R. Grindrod, KBE, MA(Oxon), ThD, and Lady Grindrod. The Most Reverend D.W.B. Robinson, AO, MA, ThD, Archbishop of Sydney and President of the School Council, presided at the function.

It is a very great pleasure for Lady Grindrod and myself to be with you for your Centenary Speech Night, and I am honoured to have been invited to speak to you.

One Speech Night can be very much like another, although in this instance, tonight is a very special occasion. It is the 100th Speech Night of the School and so it is a very historic and memorable occasion. It comes at the end of a year when you have been commemorating your School's long and valuable history. No doubt there have been many high moments throughout the year for you all – students, parents, staff and members of the School Council.

It will have been a year for recalling the past – the School's achievements, distinguished principles, teachers and students; and not least, all the trauma of the years of being on the move, before finally establishing the School in St. Andrew's House.

Lady Grindrod, who is herself a teacher, and I, would like to congratulate you all and wish the School well for the next century.

I want to have in mind specially those who are leaving School on the completion of their secondary education, whether you have won a prize or not, and however distinguished or undistinguished your school days have been.

The play, Pride and Prejudice, based on the novel, has been to Brisbane with Helen Morse in the leading role. You will all have seen at least one of the films starring Helen Morse, I'm sure. There was Caddie, Far East, and a Town Like Alice. In an interview she gave the other day Helen Morse had this to say: "Every time you work you learn something, and, if you are going to go forward and are interested in personal progress, it's a matter of personal development. That has to do with character and the ability to become more and more aware of life".

I'm sure some people think that the students of a Cathedral school live a very sheltered and protected existence, far removed from the real world. But I think that the students of St. Andrew's are uniquely placed to become, in the words of Helen Morse, "more and more aware of life". Working and commuting in the heart of the City of Sydney, close to the Cathedral and the Town Hall, not to mention the business houses and theatres down the road, just coming and going to and from school, must be a profound education in awareness. That is, if we keep our eyes and ears open. It is vital to our growth to know what is going on around us. But it is also imperative that we learn to relate appropriately to it all.

Now, this education in awareness, and selection of the appropriate response, is a process that has to go on all through life. I'm sure none of you will make the mistake of thinking that your education is complete when you leave school.

An English philosopher, Michael Oakeshott, has given us an intriguing definition of education. He says: "Education is an initiation into the conversation of mankind". Conversation is what marks off civilised man from the barbarian. Oakeshott had a vivid way of making his point. "Man", he said, "acquired his present appearance through being descended from a race of apes who sat for so long and so late in talk that they wore out their tails!"

SPEECH NIGHT 1985

So, what you've been doing here at School, in this philosopher's terms, is being introduced to the realities that civilised man talks about. You have been learning the language of science, mathematics, literature – even computer language – and the language of religion: You have been "initiated into the conversation of mankind".

It is interesting to recall, in this context, that in the Old English Prayer Book Service of Baptism, parents and godparents were told what was expected of them. They were "to bring the child to the Bishop to be confirmed by him, so soon as he/she is able to say the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments".

Being able to say the Creed, the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments isn't obviously all that is meant by Christian education. But as such, it is an initiation or introduction to the conversation of the church, what the church talks about, and hopefully, lives by. The language or conversation, is one thing: but it is the reality for which language is the symbol and to which it points that really matters.

Knowing the Lord's Prayer is one thing – knowing and loving the Heavenly Father is another, and quite the most exciting and enduring experience. This is the conversation that really matters.

To enter into the conversation of mankind is to share the human experience of art and science, of literature and religion that make up our heritage as a civilised society. For one hundred years it has been the aim of this Cathedral School to initiate its students into this conversation. Another century now opens, and within a few years we, or some of us, will be into the 21st century of the Christian era.

Let that prospect fill us with pride and excitement as we dedicate ourselves to the task and privilege of keeping the conversation alive with God and one another.

My Lord Archbishop,
My Lord Primate and Lady Grindrod,
Mr. Dean, Members and Friends of the School.

The presence of two Archbishops on the platform this evening is a rather intimidating situation. Indeed, such is the episcopal pressure upon me this evening that, although it is not Sunday and although this is a secular building, I feel totally constrained to begin with a text.

Nay – with two Archbishops it only seems right to have two texts.

My first text is in Hebrew Chapter 13 and Verse 8: "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday today and for ever".

The second is in the book Exodus, Chapter 33 and Verse 14: The Lord said "My presence will go with you, and I will give you rest".

It is, of course a pleasure to welcome His Grace, the Primate and Lady Grindrod to our gathering tonight. We thank them for putting their clocks forward an hour and venturing across the border to join us. Sir, St. Andrew's Cathedral School is proud that it is a part of, and has been of service to, the Anglican Church of Australia for the past 100 years. It was the Primate of the Church in 1885, Alfred Barry, who was our founder and it is most appropriate that one of his successors should be our Guest of Honour in this special year. Your presence tonight brings great honour upon the School and we thank you, and Lady Grindrod for joining with us.

May I say a sincere word of thanks to the Parents and Friends and the Ladies Auxiliary for the splendid Centenary gift presented by the President of the Parents and Friends, Mr. Peter Leeds. The support of the parent organisations is deeply appreciated by the School. This special Centenary Gift will be a great asset – not only for its aesthetic value but also its educational value in introducing the boys to some great works of art.

It is always a joy to have the Archbishop involved in our School Life. His active interest in our Church Schools is a great encouragement and we thank you, Your Grace, for the lead you give in this regard.

Not least, we thank you for your concern to ensure that our Independent Anglican Schools receive similar treatment from Federal and State Governments to that given to systemic non-government schools.

The continued assault by these governments on the independence of non-government schools, as well as on just and equitable funding arrangements for all students, irrespective of school attended, remains a matter of grave concern.

While expressing appreciation, may I thank the Dean and members of the School Council for their untiring and loyal support. How fortunate we are in our independent schools to have men and women who give so freely of their time to the affairs of our schools.

Tonight, being our Centenary Speech Night, it is a particular pleasure to welcome Canon Newth to the platform. The Canon was Headmaster for over one-third of the School's first century and we thank him for his immeasurable contribution to the School. We also thank him for his involvement in the production of a centenary supplement to his pictorial history of the School – Serving a Great Cause. The supplement is available tonight and can be purchased for $3.00.

Our Centenary Year has been full of activity and we seemed to have been doing things all the year. But if all we have achieved has been a frenzy of activity, then our celebration has been a failure.

You have probably heard the fable of the sun, the wind, the cloud and the wanderer.

The wanderer, wearing an old coat was observed by the others.

"I bet I can make him remove that coat," said the sun.

"I bet I can make him remove it first," said the wind.

"It's a bet," said the sun, "and the cloud can hold the stakes."

The cloud (who disliked the sun for evaporating him from a little warm pool, and the wind for blowing him around in the cold regions) said "I'll hold the stakes only if I keep the money should you both fail."

"It's a deal," they said.

So the cloud took the money and placed it in an air pocket.

The wind blew his hardest – he created whirlwinds and gales trying to blow the coat from its wearer, but the wanderer clung to it with all his might. The sun shone with all his fury and the pavements turned to treacle but still the wanderer kept his coat.

The cloud was very smug as he kept the money – "I told you you wouldn't succeed," he said.

"How did you know?" the losers asked.

"I was once a pool and the wanderer walked across me and from his reflection I noted he had no trousers."

The moral of the fable is this – he who rages in fury or burns up in heat fails, but he who reflects wins the prize.

So then, I hope that 1985 has primarily been a year for reflection and that all our activity has merely served to focus our attention on issues at the very heart of St. Andrew's Cathedral School.

At the risk of sounding like a broken record, let me refer to four such issues.

The first is our Cathedral Link. We are a Cathedral School and the Cathedral serves as our Chapel. That relationship has been essential to our well-being throughout our first century and we sought to highlight that and to show our appreciation in tangible ways by the Centenary Kneelers project and our involvement in the Cathedral Narthex.

The second is our Choir School Heritage. Our thoughts were focused on this aspect of our School through the Choir Tour. That was a splendid tour and I congratulate all who were involved and brought such credit to the School and the Cathedral.

The fact that our own Choir sang in some of the ancient Cathedrals formed a tangible link with our rich musical heritage. This heritage affects the whole School and I hope that something of that will be reflected in our Centenary Record to be released early in the New Year.

The third central issue is our City Link and this was brought into focus by the Civic Reception with the Lord Mayor and City Council.

Of course, if Cathedrals are ancient foundations how do we describe cities? Ever since man has walked upon the face of the earth he has been building cities. The book Genesis tells us that one of Adam's sons, Cain, built a city and named it after his son.

How privileged we should feel to be located at the very heart of Australia's oldest and (with due respect to the Archbishop of Brisbane) Australia's most beautiful city.

But the most significant of our activities this year have served to remind us of my fourth central issue, our Christian Foundation. We focused on this aspect of our School through the visit of the Rev. Roger Simpson. He challenged us afresh with the Good News of our Lord Jesus and the place He should occupy in our personal and corporate lives.

So I trust that we have used the opportunities of our Centenary Year to reflect upon what God has done for St. Andrew's in days long ago. Like the Psalmist, we know that it is not by our own might or the mights of our forebears that St. Andrew's stands in such a healthy shape today, but it has been God's right hand, and His arm and His love that have been our protection and strength.

HIGHER SCHOOL CERTIFICATE RESULTS 1985

Congratulations to the following boys who undertook the 1985 Higher School Certificate Examination. Overall the results were very pleasing with 14% of the students gaining passes which placed them in the top 10% of the State candidature. Approximately 59% of students matriculated for tertiary study and are indicated below. Special congratulations to Prabha Pillay who achieved an excellent result of 473.

* Denotes Matriculation Students

And St. Andrew's is in a healthy state today. There are many indicators to continued growth and development throughout 1985. I do not propose to rehearse these as they are all printed for you in my 1985 Headmaster's Report. I trust you will read that report at your leisure.

Of course, 1985 has not been without its problems. St. Andrew's Cathedral School is a human organisation and, as such, it is far from perfect. But we seek to monitor our activities in various ways and to find solutions to the challenges that confront us.

We now embark upon our second century, and much planning has already taken place to ensure that the School will continue to serve our students, the Church and the Community by providing, in a professional manner, sound education within a Christian framework.

In 1986 the Upper Secondary School moves into our interim facilities opposite St. Andrew's House. These facilities are comparable with and complimentary to those in St. Andrew's House and they provide for us the necessary time for orderly establishment of our Senior Secondary Unit.

Planning for the future has never been an easy task – and more often than not, the process is noted for its failure rather than its success.

To plan successfully, as Professor David Kemp has noted, one of the essential elements is "the knowledge that individual people have about their own values".

While this is not the only element necessary for successful planning, it is vital – and it is this element that causes most difficulties for us today, for as Manning Clark said only a few days ago: "We live in an age of doubt".

Several days earlier the Social Scientist, Wilfred Jarvis, expressed the view that our contemporary society has lost confidence in its institutions. And today, in the Chapter House, Ita Buttrose addressed the question: "Australia today: Does anyone know what is happening? Does anybody care?"

We are losing the common values which give a society its coherence. Many of the certainties of past generations have been taken away and we find in their place the notions and views of the trendies and the ideologues.

Let me illustrate with a song.

Those of you who are of my generation or older should be quite familiar with this song. If my memory serves me correctly, it was one of the contenders for our National Anthem. Let me assure you that I am not going to sing it for you, I'm leaving that task to Stephen Matthews – he's much better qualified.

There is a land where summer skies
Are gleaming with a thousand dyes,
Blending in witching harmonies, in harmonies;
And grassy knoll, and forest height,
Are flushing in the rosy light,
And all above is azure bright,
Australia, Australia, Australia.

There is a land where homesteads peep
From sunny plain and woodland steep,
And love and joy bright vigils keep, bright vigils keep;
Where the glad voice of childish glee
Is mingling with the melody
For Nature's hidden minstrelsy –
Australia, Australia, Australia.

There is a land where, floating free
From mountain top to girdling sea,
A proud flag waves exultingly, exultingly,
And Freedom's sons the banner bear;
No shackled slave can breathe the air,
Fairest of Britain's daughters fair –
Australia, Australia. Australia.

It all sounds rather dated – does it not. Perhaps that's why it wasn't selected as our National Anthem. But that is my point, it is an expression of a different era. An era when men and women could sing without any sense of embarrassment, of a 'proud flag waving exultingly' for who then would have dared to suggest that Australia needed a new flag.

Men and women of that generation were not ashamed of their heritage and saw no degradation in the reference to the 'fairest of Britain's daughters fair'. That song is the product of an age when society had confidence in its institutions and was not confused by conflicting values and doubts.

I find it rather ironic that what should be the greatest expression of our confidence and cohesion, our 1988 Bicentenial Celebrations, could well prove to be the most public expression of our doubts and divisions.

This has been highlighted by the Institute of Public Affairs which has shown that many themes and values important in the development of Australia, such as our "Christian Heritage", our "work ethic", our "membership of the Commonwealth" have been omitted from the "National Programme" while other themes of a more ideological nature such as "religious diversity", "multiculturalism" are given central place in the Bicentenary's "focus and overall direction".

As Dr. Ken Baker, IPA Review, Winter 1985, states: "Most perplexing is the Authority's officially stated stance of neutrality towards Australia's national symbols and institutions, such as the flag and monarchy. It is surely ironical that a body whose very raison d'etre is the celebration of Australia's national heritage should refuse to endorse the nation's key symbols and institutions."

And he concludes that the "Bicentenial Authority's image of Australia presented in the 'National Programme' is of a land of incoherent diversity without a core of identity without unifying institutions, traditions and values.

Here in New South Wales we see this amply demonstrated in our great Bicentenial extravaganza, Darling Harbour.

Where is our value for "the legal system and the rule of law" when the State Government can ignore its own laws and bypass civic planning and other authorities? Where is our value for "family life" when central to this development and on the very site where the School was to have its Senior Secondary Unit, will be a Casino with its attendant greed and entourage of criminal activity?

So the context in which we must plan for our second century is one of doubt and of confusion. How then can we at St. Andrew's Cathedral School plan effectively in such conditions. Well, let me take you back to my texts. For here we do find a secure and unchanging basis for our planning – Jesus Christ – the same yesterday, today and forever. In Him is no confusion of values or unpredictability. He has not changed and He will not change.

If our plans are centred on Him, then that essential planning element – security in our values – is present. And we can move forward to implement those plans in the sure knowledge that His presence will go with us and He will give us rest.

May I wish you all joy and blessing as we celebrate afresh His coming among us.

The following extracts from the School's Weekly Newsletter and general activities highlight some of the major events which occurred during the School's Centenary Year.

Anthony Brown and members of his family attended the function.

This Dinner concluded the major fund programme with the Appeal Committee having raised nearly $100,000 for Anthony's medical care and rehabilitation. The function was held in the Sydney Town Hall on Thursday, 11th July, 1985 and attended by many friends of the School together with Aldermen and civic and business leaders.

Alderman Sutherland welcomed guests and congratulated the School on its remarkable and notable history.

"What began as a small Choir School to serve the Cathedral, today, in 1985, is a comprehensive independent school drawing students from all sections of Sydney. To its great credit, it is a school which educates young men and boys to grow into responsible, reliable citizens," Ald. Sutherland said.

The Town Clerk read and presented an inscribed Commemorative Scroll to the School, the only school to receive such a special and unique commendation from the Sydney City Council.

Centenary Service

One of the largest congregations seen at St. Andrew's Cathedral gathered for the School's Centenary Service on Sunday, 14th July, 1985.

Students and staff were joined with Cathedral Chapter members, School Council members, visiting clergy and community leaders. The Cathedral and the nearby Chapter House were filled to overflowing with the service relayed by closed circuit television monitors.

The Headmaster, Mr. Allan Beavis, reminded the congregation that the service timing almost exactly coincided with the inaugural service time of the founding.

"One hundred years ago to the hour the Sydney community and church leaders gathered to hear Dr. Alfred Barry, our founder, proclaim the School's establishment.

"As we enter our second century we are reminded of Bishop Barry's vision that the sovereign God would be pre-eminent in the life of the School. The School's Centenary Service in the Mother Cathedral of Australia and the School's Chapel re-affirms our dedication to that objective," Mr. Beavis added.

Guest preacher at the Service was the Rev. Roger Simpson, Director of Evangelism at All Soul's Church, Langham Place, London.

The Centenary Service featured participation by students in Primary years and in Year 7 who recited the Old and New Testament lessons respectively. Four guest trumpeters played a trumpet fanfare within the hymns and during the recessional.

Rev Roger Simpson.

During its Centenary Week the School welcomed the Rev. Roger Simpson, Director of Evangelism at All Soul's Church, Langham Place, London to undertake a mission within the School.

Roger Simpson, a gifted preacher and evangelist, has undertaken numerous mission programmes within schools and universities in England and the United States.

The mission was an unqualified success in drawing students to the message of the Gospel and its implications and effect on their lives.

Roger Simpson's personality and talented drawing skills allowed him very quickly to develop a rapport with students and staff.

The Mission format was designed to minimise disruption to the School routine. Consequently Mr. Simpson spoke at Chapel Services for both Primary and Secondary students and during the week was involved with all class groups. A rally held in the Chapter House attracted some 200 students from St. Andrew's and other schools.

His formal programme concluded with his sermon at the Centenary Service on 14th July, 1985. He also spoke at certain Cathedral meetings and other Dioceson venues.

We are grateful to God for Roger Simpson's visit and we pray that all those students who were personally touched by the Gospel message he proclaimed will continue to strengthen their Christian commitment in their lives.

PREP. REPORT

The year has been extremely busy for both the staff and the boys of the Primary Department for, in addition to the usual activities, we have had many Centenary Celebrations.

Part of these celebrations involved the Choir touring England. Many of the Prep. boys departed northwards to return a month later loaded with postcards, photos and many enlightening stories.

Another school celebrating its Centenary in 1985 was Abbotsleigh School at Wahroonga. At the invitation of Mrs. Nichols, the Junior Mistress, we visited the School to join in a day of musical celebration. While some boys were rehearsing combined orchestral, choral and recorder items, others took part in debates and games. It proved a most successful day and was enjoyed by all students.

During the year many boys were able to further their outdoor education at 'Kirrikee'. Mr. Colin May organised programmes for each class, ensuring a minimum overlap of content between grades. Year 5 was introduced to the task of 'crutching' sheep, an activity they will remember for some time to come.

Last year's Prep. held a combined sportsday in Sydney with Blue Mountains' Grammar School. This year it was our turn to travel to the mountains to play on their home ground.

Accompanied by the Headmaster, our convoy of three buses made a good start. However, it soon became evident (half way along the Expressway) that the first bus was travelling at approximately 40 km/hour. Due to the forces of nature, the bus stopped completely at the foot of the mountains. Rather than following the steps of Blaxland, Wentworth and Lawson, the staff and boys from the stricken bus transferred into the remaining bus and continued the journey. We all arrived safely, if a little late. The day was enjoyable with boys showing initiative and teamwork in the variety of events.

When it came time to leave we noticed that the first bus had finally arrived. Ah well, better late than never.

As well as the annual chess and draughts competitions, public speaking and debating, many classes undertook a variety of excursions. These were designed to further the boys' educational experiences and increase interest and understanding of subjects.

The beginning of the year saw some changes in staff. We welcomed Mrs. Susan Fulcher to Year 3 and Mr. Jay Balbi to the ancilliary staff. At Easter, Mrs. Deborah Hilder left on maternity leave, after which her class was taken by Miss Jennifer Tuney. We would like to congratulate Mrs. Hilder on the subsequent birth of her son, Duncan, and wish the family well for the future.

DOWN ON THE FARM

The Primary Department excursions to 'Kirrikee' are now part of the educational curriculum for all students, a fact which certainly pleases the Junior boys.

It is extremely difficult to capture the fun and excitement of the outdoor education centre but these shots will indicate some of the new experiences gained from a visit.

Boys get a first hand idea of the environmental consequences from a disastrous forest fire.

"Who said farming was hard; it's kid stuff!"

"Do you think the bus will take all that gear?"

Planting and caring for trees takes on an added dimension when you do it yourself.

THE ACADEMIC YEAR

A GASS STUDENT IN GERMANY

I was fortunate enough to stay in the town of Freiburg in Breisgau which lies about 20km from the French border and only about 50km from the Swiss border in the south-western German State of Baden-Wurtemberg. This beautiful town boasts a Cathedral with what has been described as the finest tower in Christendom and having seen many others in other towns I must say I agree. Freiburg is situated in the middle of a wine-growing area (near the REAL Kaiser Stuhl) and is the capital city of the Black Forest.

The village in which my foster family lives is called Tiengen and is 1,100 years old. From there I would set out on many occasions to go to school in the town, or more enjoyably, the family would go skiing in the Black Forest.

Even though the trees had begun to die, I have never seen anything more beautiful than the Black Forest under a blanket of pure white snow on a clear winter's day. Which of course brings me to the weather: we had the coldest January in 40 years; for 21 days the temperature stayed below 0 and one night it got down to minus 29.

Apart from being with my foster family and learning German, the most enjoyable thing I did was to travel around. I visited such exotic and faraway places as Munich, Vienna, Passau, Cologne, Hamburg, Paris, Nuremberg, Berlin and such inestimably dreary places as Bonn and Wuppertal.

All the GASS students got together in Marburg in January for an event that can best be described as an attempt to set world records in such fields as sleeplessness. Later on, right at the very end of our stay, we went on a trip to Bonn, where we attended a reception with the Australian Ambassador, and Berlin where we met a group of English school-age tourists. We visited East Berlin without a guide, which was fascinating, and tasted some East German chocolate which is the only thing I know of that makes chalk taste good.

The trip was most worthwhile; especially because I had a 'super' foster family who helped my German a great deal. I really look forward to returning some day.

ART 1985

The Art Department saw some major changes in 1985. Mr. A. Paviour, who was on long-service leave for the first two terms, resigned to pursue a career as a professional artist. He was replaced in Terms 1 and 2 by Miss J. Stephens, who had a very enthusiastic and encouraging influence upon the students.

Murals on the roof were undertaken and completed to a high standard with a great deal of dedication and hard work by students in Years 9 and 10. The extra large Year 9 mural was an extremely valuable and successful exercise in how to work co-operatively as a class, as well as achieving a visually aesthetic roof environment. The Year 10 murals were done in groups of three or four and special mention must be given to Timothy Gilkes, Jason Knight, Bryn Shillington and Michael Torres for the extra long hours and excellent standard of craftsmanship they achieved on their mural. It is envisaged that mural painting will become a regular event each year.

Years 7 and 8 developed skills in drawing, painting and handbuilding clay heads and faces. Three-dimensional work was very popular with Year 7 and many students achieved excellent results. The new kiln, in operation for the first time in Term 3, coped splendidly with the constant firings.

Year 11 students Brian Angus and Grant Perry were successful in local photography competitions and the Sydney Morning Herald Photography Competition.

The Year 12 Major Art Works covered a wide range of skills from black and white photography to surrealist painting and kinetic sculpture. Stage design was pursued to a high standard by several students using the stage plan of the Opera House and designing sets for "Major Barbara", "Summer of the Seventeenth Doll" and "My Fair Lady".

Excursions to the Art Gallery of New South Wales to see the Monet Exhibition, as well as current contemporary exhibitions were undertaken by senior classes.

I would like to thank Miss K. Gilbert for her work with Years 8, 9 and 10 non-elective Art classes.

YEAR 12 GEOGRAPHY FIELDWORK

As part of its syllabus requirements, Geography students undertook field studies to CSR's sugar refinery located at Pyrmont and AFA Meadowsfreight located at Mascot. Both field studies comprised a conducted tour of both establishments and the receipt of literature outlining the operations of the particular plant and the company.

At the CSR Pyrmont plant, students observed the refining process of sugar from its delivery in bulk carriers from properties in Queensland to its packaging and transport to other factories and users selling into the Sydney market. Locational reasons for the operations were also examined.

At AFA Meadowsfreight we studied various factors resulting in the firm's location, noting in particular the proximity to the International Airport and Botany Bay. The freight forwarding process and international links were also reviewed.

These field trips enabled a practical application of studies and skills developed in classrooms while providing a most worthwhile educational experience. This fieldwork is most beneficial in preparing for HSC examinations.

YEAR 11 GEOGRAPHY FIELDWORK

Two field studies were undertaken as part of the HSC syllabus requirements.

The first visit was undertaken to the Middle Creek Valley tracing the creek's course from Oxford Falls to Narrabeen Lagoon. Features such as weathering, creek movement and river hydrology plus vegetation studies and ecosystems were studied. Six observation stops were made along the valley where emphasis was placed on studying landform features and vegetation change in response to changes in micro-climate, soils, slope and parent rock material.

The second field trip was made to study coastal landforms from Harbord to Avalon. Many depositional and erosional formations studied in class were examined in practice as were the effects on landforms, especially sand-dune systems and formations.

Both field sessions were extremely valuable in applying our geographical knowledge and in reinforcing our understanding of natural systems studied in class during the year.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

The question may be asked, "What kind of education should be provided for the Youth of today?" Peter Miller, the Superintendent of Education, Manual Arts, in W.A., wrote the following suggestions:

* Should prepare youth to become efficient economic units in the community.
* Prepare people to obtain through their work, an identity, satisfactory social relationships and the fullest sense of accomplishment.
* Teach him the skills which fit him for participation in and with the community and be able to associate with his fellows. (Miller 79)

It is the purpose of I.A. to help fulfil those aims. Below are some of the methods used at St. Andrews:

* To dispell the idea that learning through doing is not educationally acceptable.
* To be aware of the close link between science and engineering and to foster their growth together as society needs both.
* Make relevant much that is abstract by involving the students in real and meaningful experiential learning.
* The teaching of literacy and numeracy so that they are not an end in themselves but a means to something else.
* The teaching of visual awareness – the ability to be able to perceive and understand in three dimensions.
* Encourage flexibility of mind together with adaptability of skills.
* To introduce a wide range of leisure interests.
* Reawaken the joy of creative pursuits and the acquisition of skills.
* To help pupils develop a sense of achievement.
* The need for pupils to develop a sense of values and responsible attitudes.
* Develop habits of activity, concentration, accuracy and thoroughness.
* Inspire the student with the ambition to constantly improve.

To achieve these goals a well-planned and teacher-structured sequence of designing, planning, making and testing of jobs with a good background knowledge of material, scientific, mathematical and communication skills necessary to carry out such processes, are taught initially with opportunity for self-motivated projects once the student feels comfortable with the skills. The projects are not too ambitious so as to allow a moderate ability of perfection to be achieved in each project. Over the last year or so other developments have been made to assist in achieving these goals, the most prominent being, 1) having all Year 8 boys study Technics, and 2) the introduction of Industrial Technology in Years 11 and 12.

Science Safari

1985 YEARS 7–11 SCIENCE SAFARI

During the August-September holidays, 50 boys from our School went on a Science Safari with Mr. O. Smythe and Mr. J. Boddy for four days and visited some interesting and beautiful parts of Western New South Wales.

We departed early on a Monday morning in a coach, bound for the Blue Mountains. Our first stop was at Katoomba then we drove to Bathurst, where we learnt about gold and gold mining at Karingal Village near Mt. Panorama. That night, we stayed in the town of Parkes.

The next day we went to the large radio-telescope just outside Parkes itself. It was very interesting. We had lunch at The Western Plains Zoo and visited the Old Dubbo Jail. We stayed that night outside Coonabarrabran. The next day we went on a hike in the breath-taking Warrumbungles and visited the Siding Springs Observatory. We spent that night at Coonabarrabran.

The return trip was via Gulgong (the town on the $10.00 note) where we stopped for lunch and visited the Gulgong Pioneer Museum. The rest of the way home, most people caught up on much needed sleep and woke up back in Sydney late on Thursday evening.

The trip was a great success, thanks to the care and time given by Mr. Smythe and Mr. Boddy.

ECONOMICS/GEOGRAPHY DEPARTMENT

Many of these were based on current events such as tax reform or fieldwork undertaken during the curriculum course. Reports from the Year 11 Geography field study to Sydney's northern coastline and Middle Creek were particularly meritorious. In addition, a number of excursions were conducted in the Sydney Central Business District, a programme which was particularly related to the classroom study.

New teaching programmes were introduced in Year 7 – Studies in Society – and Years 8–9 Geography. In Commerce new units were introduced in legal studies while Reading and Interpreting Financial Statements will be introduced in 1986.

Economics continues its popularity within the School as it offers an excellent background of information relevant for decision making at secondary school level and for tertiary study in Economics, Accounting, Marketing and other related fields. Student work has concentrated on the Australian economy and current events such as financial deregulation, floating the Australian Dollar, Tax Reform and the Budget which have been studied in depth.

The introduction of the School-based Higher School assessment has resulted in high quality assessment tasks being submitted by most students. There are twelve assessment tasks in both Economics and Geography, the first of which commence in the middle of Year 11. These test a number of objectives in addition to those tested in the HSC examinations. Students have found it essential to conduct wide research for assessment tasks. Thorough preparation of examination topics continues to be most important as many marks for the HSC assessment come from examinations.

Greater use of computers has been made within these classes during the year as new software packages have proved to be most useful in supplementing classroom activities. The School subscribes to Viatell and in 1986 this will make possible close monitoring of stock market changes for term assignments on investment in Year 10.

Teaching staff are finding the preparation of quality resources easier by using appropriate software in Geography and Commerce. Clerical support work is being undertaken on computers, particularly the recording and standardising of assessment tasks and examination marks.

Development of teaching programmes and teaching materials has been undertaken in 1985. Courses are being taught which are more in line with the needs of students and the society in which we live, a basic requirement to assist our students in the learning process.

CHOIR

A Cathedral choir makes possible the achievement of the ultimate purpose of a Cathedral. A Cathedral is the Mother Church of a Diocese by being the seat (Cathedra) of the Bishop and standing for the daily worship of God on behalf of the Diocese. All other functions may be important but are secondary to worship

Traditionally, Cathedrals offer this worship as beautifully as possible, a function which requires a trained choir, an uplifting atmosphere and a transcedent liturgy that should fill the congregation with a child-like wonder before life and its Creator.

This is a tall achieve requirement when dealing with our 'no nonsense, practical Aussie personalities that keep our spirits firmly padlocked to mundane measureable reality' (Daniel Kinnane).

It is a tall order in a secularist society and even in a Diocese where many people prefer worship to be 'plain and ordinary' because presumably that is their concept of the One whom they worship.

In the face of these considerations, St. Andrew's Cathedral maintains its choir and the School retains its function as a Choir School to supply and educate the choristers. The commitment of the choristers and their parents is well-known but most see this commitment as part of their overall worship which permeates daily living, even though some do this less consciously than others.

Although the highlight for the Centenary Year was the month-long tour to England and the Choir was in top form during each service, we received much more than we could give, a fact which will carry over into our daily worship in the Cathedral.

What the Choir received was probably a different attitude towards worship whereby it is a daily joy not a daily duty, a fact summed up by the Dean of Salisbury: 'Evensong is a daily heaven upon earth'. So we are inspired anew to face our Evensongs on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursdays with freshness and awe when there might be four, fourteen or forty in the congregation. Similarly, the inspiration can carry to the Sunday service, when we might be showing the symptoms of that occupational hazard called 'worship fatigue' experienced by all who are exercising leadership roles in public worship.

We were fortunate in our Centenary Year to have outstanding leadership in the Choir. It is always a sign of a good choir when this leadership comes from within the ranks rather than being imposed from above. Many thanks to our 1985 Head Choristers Robin Doenicke and Philip Goodwin, assisted by the Chorister Medalists Peter Butterworth, James Campbell, Sandy Hercus and Guy Rippingale.

MICHAEL DEASEY
Master of the Choristers

CHOIR TOUR TO ENGLAND

The Choir sang at the following Cathedrals in England: Canterbury, York Minster, Salisbury, St. Paul's, Wells, Exeter, Guildford, St. Albans' Abbey, Selby Abbey, St. Michael's Tenbury and a recital in Fyfield, Essex.

The touring party comprised Choristers, Choral Scholars and Lay Clerks. The tour was sponsored by the School and directed by the Senior Master, Mr. Robert McCall. The Precentor of the Cathedral, Rev. Brian Watt, was responsible for the Choir and the music was under the direction of Michael Deasey, Master of the Choristers. The Assistant Cathedral Organist, Bransby Byrne, was the accompanist.

The tour considerably extended the experience of each choir member and created fitting links with English Choir Schools from which St. Andrew's traces its own choral traditions.

"Kirrikee"

The 1985 'Kirrikee' Programme continued to expand. We were fortunate to have the assistance of the Technics Master in building a mud-brick hut with students from Years 9 and 10.

Sheep were a great addition to our 'Kirrikee' Programme this year. We have a flock of 134 first-cross ewes and two rams. Primary boys particularly have had a lot to do with the preparations of sheep in drenching, jetting and shearing. In the Christmas holidays a camp was held for shearing the sheep and we were able to show boys shearing and wool classing. This wool was taken to market and the boys were able to see the process involved.

Primary camps have increased in the last year. Every class in Primary came to Penrose to be involved in some sort of 'hands-on' programme. 'Hands-on' means the students are involved in animals and activities and industries attached to each. For instance, in Year 4 we visited the Robinson cheese factory and then on to the milk factory. Students saw two types of dairies and experienced different activities including planting trees and working with stock.

Two schools visited 'Kirrikee' in the last twelve months; Aberfeldy School at Turramurra which brought 2nd Class students and All Saints Bathurst with Year 8 co-ed students. Both schools expressed their thanks for the use of 'Kirrikee'.

Expeditions in 1985 improved and consolidated. Year 7 expedition is now a 24-hour expedition; Year 8 runs for two nights and two days; Year 9 for three days and two nights. Year 10 camp includes an unaccompanied expedition into the Shoalhaven Gorge which allows the boys to go to checkpoints manned by senior students and staff. This expedition takes three days and three nights.

Year 10 Leaders Expedition incorporates a 24 hour solo experience where boys are left by themselves with a lean-to and their own food for 24 hours. The boys share their experiences and express their feelings and fears from this situation. Students more fully understand the fears and possible reactions of junior students under their care.

Through the year, Years 11 and 12 students have come to the property at any time. It has been great to see so many senior boys spend their own time working with the stock and undertaking projects such as fencing and the Ropes Course.

Parents were important visitors to 'Kirrikee'. At every camp, parents came and helped in some way on cooking or some adventure skill. We are most grateful for their help and we seek their continuing support to enable our programme to expand in 1986.

Towards the end of 1985 construction commenced on the student complex which is being built at the bottom of the property adjacent to Paddys River. This development is a most exciting addition to the camping and service facilities at 'Kirrikee'. Its construction, along with that of the mud brick hut, has been financed totally by the St. Andrew's Cathedral School Foundation Limited. Everyone linked with the School will be deeply indebted to the Foundation for its support and commitment to such 'Kirrikee' developments.

The building of a Yurt, which is based on a Mongolian principle, has allowed the Director and his family to live at 'Kirrikee' and have full-time staff on site to develop the mud bricks and various other activities. The Yurt has also allowed boys to go to Gunningbar Yurt Works for work experience. Two Year 11 students, John Kounavis and Peter Houghton, were fortunate to spend holiday time at the Yurt works.

To reiterate a point made when the Outdoor Education Programme started at St. Andrew's, it is appropriate to quote a section of the Outdoor Education Programme philosophy:

> "The criteria for assessing a visit has not been the degree of enjoyment attained, but the depth of involvement and the benefits gained. The revelation of one's short-comings has been a hard pill to swallow but is often the first stage of overcoming one's weakness."

We thank God for His guiding hand on 'Kirrikee' and the continuing development of the site and the programme.

C. C. MAY
Director of Outdoor Education

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Dramatic changes in the approach to teaching music occurred in 1985 at St. Andrew's.

For the first time all Year 3 students undertook violin classes during the year, an approach that has been successful in other schools by laying the foundation for an instrumental programme that has its basis on string instruments. Approximately 50% of Year 3 students have chosen to continue violin lessons voluntarily into Year 4, an excellent retention rate.

Many thanks to Philippa Paige for commencing this programme and for teaching violin generally in the School, in addition to taking string ensembles. Also in the string department we welcomed a cello teacher, Mr. David Loew, who, by visiting and demonstrating in some of the regular music classes, has built up an interest that is still growing by a steady increase in the number of cello students.

Other visiting teachers have been Eva Morrison, who in 1985 completed a long period of association with St. Andrew's by teaching piano. Tommie Anderson, who is an outstanding guitarist from Sweden, and Fred Groves and Harold Jurd who have taught woodwind and brass instruments respectively for many years, were also welcomed to the staff.

Many people appreciated the results of the School's resurgence in instrumental music when listening to an excellent performance at Speech Night by the combined ensembles in Bizet's 'Farandole'.

Other outstanding achievements during the year have been in the vocal solo field with Stephen Matthews and Stuart Skelton, both being tenors in Year 11, taking out multiple prizes in the City of Sydney Eistedfodd.

Primary Music during 1985 concentrated on teaching music through recorder playing in class. This programme was begun by Sue Thompson, who left the School temporarily in April to accept a scholarship in the Netherlands in recorder playing and teaching. Her place was taken by Helen McBride, who also is a recorder specialist, and assisted in other areas of the School Music Programme, including accompanying on the piano for the 1985 H.S.C. candidates.

Secondary Music again offered an introductory year in Year 7 which resulted in another large class for selective Music in Year 8 for 1986. Although elective Music is offered in every year from Year 8–12, all of Year 8 had a Music period once a week. This was especially designed to introduce them to great and sometimes unusual musical masterpieces that they might appreciate later in life. The Secondary Music Programme was taught mainly by Robyn Crowley and Michael Deasey and included the presentation of five candidates for the H.S.C. and the largest ever elective Music class which was in Year 8.

Soirees were presented three times during the year on Friday evenings. These are designed to provide opportunity for soloists, no matter how inexperienced, to perform in public. The presentations also include more advanced music students and ensembles, many of which were elective Music classes performing their own arrangements on assorted instruments that had been practised in class. Many of these performances were musically creditable and all were entertaining.

MICHAEL DEASEY
Director of Music

Small group ensembles enjoyed considerable popularity and growth in line with the expansion in musical training and appreciation which took place during the year.

S.A.L.A.D.S.
ST. ANDREW'S LITERARY AND DEBATING SOCIETY

In what was again, an extremely active and highly successful year for S.A.L.A.D.S., St. Andrew's participated in an even wider range of competitions and excursions than in previous years.

The year commenced with some Year 10 students attending a Youth Forum, held by the Australian Crime Prevention Council. The topic was 'Young People and Drug Problems'.

Several S.A.L.A.D.S. members attended a public debate for the International Year for Youth, "That the Future Belongs to Youth". The Chairperson was Justice Kirby.

There were also special visits to St. Clare's, Waverley, Holy Cross, Bondi Junction, Albury High, M.L.C., Burwood and the Sydney Opera House.

St. Andrew's hosted many special events during 1985, including the District finals of the Plain English Speaking Competition at which ten schools were represented and the State quarter finals of the Commonwealth Bank Competition. Visiting schools included Sydney Boys' High, Oak Flats High, Nepean High and St. Vincent's College.

The Interhouse Debating Competition took place during first term. Debates were held in two divisions: Junior (Years 7–9) and Senior (Years 10–12). The competition gives opportunity to practise techniques and experiment with new approaches to the debate. Our School representative teams are selected from this House Competition. York House won the Junior Division and Salisbury House won the Senior Division.

The results of the House competition were:

York	—	32
Canterbury	—	30
Salisbury	—	30
St. Paul's	—	24

The debating adjudication programme, commenced in 1983, continued strongly during the year with experienced Senior debaters capably adjudicating Junior preliminary matches.

During first term St. Andrew's also had the opportunity of enjoying two Social Debates against St. Vincent's College, Pott's Point and M.L.C., Burwood.

The most important feature of the Debating calendar is the Independent Schools Debating Association competition which commenced on Friday evening, 24th May, at Riverview. The schools involved are St. Andrew's, Queenwood, Wenona, St. Augustine's, Pittwater House, SCEGGS Redlands, St. Ignatius Riverview and Sydney Grammar.

All teams were very successful, especially the victorious Year 10 team which remained undefeated throughout the season, even winning against the also undefeated Sydney Grammar team, previous winners of the Competition. After placing Sydney Grammar out of contention, the team ultimately defeated SCEGGS Redlands on the topic that this is the 'Age of Garbage', by a unanimous decision.

Year 11 (Senior B) came third in their division and Year 12 (Senior A) were runners-up after a majority decision, to Sydney Grammar. This was one of the most challenging finals yet; "That we need more Margarets Thatching". St. Andrew's had the Negative side of the argument but couldn't quite get the better of their arch-rivals, to whom they were runners-up last year.

In 1985, St. Andrew's also featured well in public speaking. Robert Hayen (Year 8) was commended for his participating in the Anglican Board of Missions Second Annual Public Speaking Contest and Stephen Gee (Year 12) advanced to the Regional final of the National Plain English Speaking Award. Stephen chose the topic "Nationalism" for his presentation.

YEAR 7 – DEBATING

For the second year running, St. Andrew's entered the Commonwealth Bank (David Verco) Senior Debating Competition. Team composition varied from match to match and many Senior debaters managed to participate. As an example of St. Andrew's high standard throughout all Senior years, the team was extremely successful, rising to the State quarter final. They were narrowly defeated by Nepean High which won the competition.

St. Andrew's survived five rounds undefeated, battling with some difficult subjects such as "Our Money is Wasted on Royal Commissions" (Neg.), "That N.Z. has the Right Idea" (Neg.), "That the Wolves are at the Door" (Aff.). Was it coincidence only that we met our match in the sixth round on the subject, "That we Overstep the Mark too Often"?

The highlights of this exciting competition were winning the match against Sydney Boys' High, "That Australian Sportsmen are a Crying Shame" and a memorable trip to Albury High, undeterred by a train strike.

S.A.L.A.D.S. concluded its 1985 calendar with a Demonstration Debate, organised by Irfan Yusuf and performed on Open Day, 12th October.

Junior Debaters enthusiastically argued on the topic "That Love wasn't Meant to be Easy". Julian Barton and Jason Golding (Year 10) gave adjudication.

S.A.L.A.D.S. members would like to extend best wishes to our Year 12 team – Stephen Gee, Robert Hunt, Stephen Miklos, Ian Pople and Matthew Church, as they begin tertiary education and thank them for their fine example and enthusiasm shown to the debaters.

During the year, debaters from all years have greatly appreciated all the help given them by staff members. They would like to give special thanks to Old Boy, Gareth Sage, for his invaluable coaching. Parents deserve special thanks for providing food and transport throughout the season.

Finally, we would like to express our sincere appreciation to Mrs. Crawford for facing the challenging task of Debating Co-ordinator and for her invaluable encouragement and time and effort given to us throughout the whole year.

1st XV RUGBY REPORT – 1985

The achievements of the 1985 1st XV Rugby Team was marked by great variation and inconclusive success. The early win in the season over Newington 2nd XV raised confidence, and much hope for the future games. The highlight of the season was the New Zealand Centenary Rugby Tour (Saturday, 27th April – Sunday, 17th May, 1985). St. Andrew's 1st XV played several games during the two-week tour with great determination and distinction. The games included: Tuakau College, Lindesfarne College, Edmund Rice College, St. Andrew's College, King's College and Scott's College. Another impressive achievement was the win over the Old Boys' Team, a result that has not been recorded in many years.

Additional games played in Sydney included: Chevallier College, Trinity Grammar School, Newington College, Hurlstone Agricultural School, St. Joseph's College, Armidale College, Knox College, St. Pius X College, Anglican Church Grammar School–Brisbane, Old Boys and St. Ignatius College. Out of twelve games played, the team lost only three games. This is a great achievement especially when playing some of the better teams.

St. Andrew's 1st XV had its share of representatives. First XV Captain and 5/8, Toby Withers and Brian Angus (hooker), were selected in the 2nd XV Combined Colleges Team, while John Kounavis and Clayton Fischer gained representative status in the U16 Combined Colleges Team.

A most pleasing aspect of the season was the enthusiasm, co-operation and dedication displayed by all players both on and off the field. They were all outstanding representatives, reflecting pride in themselves, their School and their homes.

In conclusion to this report, I would like to sincerely thank Mr. C. May for his unfledging assistance throughout the season as the Team Manager. To all Staff, Students, Parents and Friends, I offer grateful thanks for the continued interest, support and encouragement that has contributed much to the success of this season.

It is with tremendous pride that I am able to report on the 1985 1st XV Rugby season and to look forward to another successful Rugby year in 1986.

NEW ZEALAND CENTENARY TOUR

St. Andrew's Invades 'The Land of the Long White Cloud'

"You're going to tour New Zealand with a football group! You must be crazy or brave!?!" This was a common comment when we told friends about our upcoming tour of New Zealand with the 1st XI Soccer Team and the 1st XV Rugby Team.

To the boys especially, to the parents and staff, we would like it to be known that the boys were wonderful ambassadors for the School in this its Centennial Year, a credit to their parents with their fine manners and behaviour and an acknowledgement to us that we weren't travelling with a group of rowdy footballers, but with a group of fine young men.

From the time we met at the airport, their dress and manner was commented upon in a very favourable light. Constantly on tour, billeting parents would make the effort to come up to us and say how much they had enjoyed having the boys in their homes. It was always fun to hear their various tales about being part of a very different home – Maori homes, farms, luxurious homes, etc. When we asked one member of the touring party whether he enjoyed one place better than the other, his comment was "no, because each place was enjoyable in its different way and because of the families we stayed with". And this to us was a most important aspect of our tour, that by the end of the tour each boy seemed more confident about meeting and staying with a family, to the point that we weren't surprised when two boldly walked up to a secretive Nana Muskouri at the airport and another two tried to teach a Japanese couple English all the way home on our flight to Sydney!

For Mrs. Beavis, Mrs. Cerni and I, it was quite an education being part of the "rah-rah" team and on the sideline – but we were all proud of the way our boys played the game. Chris Little and Toby Withers, as Captains, were very fine representatives of their teams and were called on often, along with others, to make impromptu speeches and did so in an admirable way.

So, on behalf of Mr. & Mrs. Tom Cerni, the Rugby Coach, Mr. Eric Bernard and Mr. Greg Gower, the Soccer Coaches, Mr. May, the Manager and myself, we would like to thank the boys for making this such a successful and enjoyable tour.

We would also like to thank Mr. & Mrs. Beavis for their company on the tour. As Toby Withers said in his speech, he felt that having the Headmaster and his wife with us, gave a different tone to the group with the schools we visited emphasising the fact that the sporting teams are an important part of our School. As a result of Mr. Beavis' company, we're sure that each boy has now bought a tape of Bach's music to play at every possible moment!

A special thank you was given to Mrs. Gay Withers who organised our trip superbly, so that we could see as much of the beauty of New Zealand as possible. We thank her for her constant contact and concern.

This has been an exciting part of the School's Centenary Programme. Finally, we thank God for His protective hand and for the privilege of seeing the beauty of His handiwork in such a beautiful country.

ASSOCIATION OF PARENTS & FRIENDS

OFFICE BEARERS – 1985

President:	Peter Leeds
Vice-President:	Peter Prior
Hon. Treasurer:	Bruce Oliver
Hon. Secretary:	David Hill
Members:	Dinah Barron
	Tevor Rippingale
	Owen McMann
	Ros Bean
	Margaret Stephenson
	Maureen Harman

At the beginning of 1985 I referred to the Association's achievements in 1984 – a year in which we achieved perhaps more than we had expected. The same I think can be said for 1985 which was a year of tremendous activity in the School community, a large part of this being generated by the Centenary Celebrations.

Our programme for the year was dominated and dictated to a certain extent by the Centenary. In some ways this made planning easier but the ever important fund raising to support the School may have suffered a little as we wanted as many members of the School Community to participate and not feel restricted by cost. In addition, 1985 was not a year in which we held a fair – therein lies a challenge for 1986.
Nevertheless, I am pleased to report the Association provided the School with $22,461 for equipment, Newth Scholarships, support for the United Kingdom choir tour, the New Zealand football tour and our Centenary gift to the School. This was a record.

The Association is very grateful to the Ladies' Auxiliary for their magnificent contribution of funds and plain hard work in 1985. I am grateful to Margaret Stephenson for her leadership and her support of all our activities. The ladies responsible for the operation of the tuckshop are to be congratulated on a splendid result for 1985.

Major projects for the year were the Centenary Ball in April held in conjunction with the Old Boys' Association, the Centenary Dinner in July, the School Anniversary and Centenary Celebration Services and the Open Day in October. These were all great occasions and brought the School Family together in an atmosphere of celebration and thanksgiving.

The Mission held in July, when the Rev. Roger Simpson ministered in the School and the Cathedral, was a high point of the year. It was exciting that so many boys responded to his teaching and ministry and it is to be hoped this Mission concept will be continued. Support for a visiting person of the calibre of Mr. Simpson would be a worthwhile project.

Monthly Association meetings were poorly attended in 1985 despite efforts to minimise formal business. We aimed to provide topics and speakers which would interest and draw parents to meetings. While the presentations were very good, it was disappointing to have only a few people attending. We are very grateful to those who assisted – the Headmaster, Senior Master, Mr. May, Mr. Caruthers of the School Council and, not least, boys who reported on life at 'Kirrikee', the UK choir tour and the football tour of NZ.

As far as on-going funding for non-government schools is concerned, parents should be concerned that non-government schools, and particularly St. Andrew's, are still the subject of inequitable funding treatment by both State and Federal Governments and a concerted campaign by the Teachers' Federation is aimed at their demise. Unless parents take a greater interest in these threats, not only will we pay more for our children's schooling but the very right to send them to a school of our choice will be threatened.

In 1986 I would encourage you all to become actively involved with the Association and its programme. It is a way in which you can be involved at a practical level which I assure you will be of great mutual benefit.

Three years is indeed a sufficient time for one person to occupy the position of President of this Association and as I have reached that point I will not be seeking re-election. I have thoroughly enjoyed my time in this role which has been enhanced by the support of committee members, the Headmaster and the Senior Master.

It would be remiss if I didn't make particular mention of Bruce Oliver, our Treasurer. He has endured three years with me in the chair and for that alone he deserves thanks. Bruce has meticulously managed our finances and reported on them. As well he has been an active member of the NSW Parent Council. His work in this area is greatly appreciated.

It has been a privilege to serve the Association for the past three years. In many ways 1985 for me personally was most difficult and I cannot speak too highly of the support and understanding I have received from the Headmaster and staff. May God abundantly bless the School and the Association as they continue their great work.

1985 was a very memorable year in the life of St. Andrew's Cathedral School and the Ladies' Auxiliary played an important role during that time.

The opening and closing functions of the year were held at the homes of Julie Twyman and Daphne Cook. Thank you both for your hospitality.

At our monthly meetings, we were privileged to have some very interesting guest speakers, including:

Canon Glennon from the Cathedral Healing Ministry;
Stephen Gee, Head Student, spoke on his exchange scholarship to Germany;
John Benn, a member of the Administrative Staff of the School;
Linda Cox, a personal colour consultant, and
Nita Bryne, a home economist.

At the October meeting, held at the home of the Headmaster and Mrs. Beavis, our visitors were Maureen James and Ann Tucker, who are both mothers of children with particular health and learning problems.

The Centenary Kneeler Project drew to its conclusion and a Special Service of Dedication was held in the Cathedral attended by the Archbishop. A floral demonstration at the home of Dorothy Moss, raised funds for the Choir Tour of England. Likewise, the proceeds of the barbeque luncheon at 'Kirrikee' on Open Day went to the footballers' tour fund for their New Zealand visit.

The Centenary Ball at the Boulevard Hotel and the Centenary Dinner at the Town Hall were two functions with strong social emphasis. On both occasions the ladies were responsible for the floral decorations under the direction of Ros Bean.

The Centenary Service was a great occasion of celebration and thanksgiving. The Ladies' Auxiliary provided afternoon tea in the Square for all present at the conclusion of the Service. Special thanks was given to Dorothy Moss, Lyn Stevens and Kerrie Shrubsole who were involved with the baking and icing of cakes for that occasion.

The Lord Mayor of Sydney held a Civic Reception for the School Community and presented the School with a commemorative scroll which is now displayed in the reception area. Some members of the Ladies' Auxiliary attended a special gathering after the Reception.

The catering expertise of the ladies was very useful for a number of other functions, including parent/teacher nights, Heads of Independent Schools Luncheon, Senior Boys luncheons, Flower Festival, staff Christmas luncheon and the Association's regular monthly meetings.

A very successful Bus Tour was conducted during October.

The Canteen has had a very successful year and I congratulate the Canteen Committee of Kathy Geha, Lyn Bullock, Julie Twyman, Emma Clemens and Ros Bean for that success. The Clothing Pool, which is managed by June Aldridge, has also contributed to Auxiliary Funds.

To the Committee and to all who have participated in any way during the year, I thank you very sincerely. I do encourage all parents to join with us in our activities whenever possible. The friendship and fellowship we share are an important part of the school life at St. Andrew's.

YEAR 12 FAREWELL

The Year 12 Farewell was held again this year in the Grand Ballroom of the Sydney Hilton. It was a very enjoyable occasion for all present. The boys and their partners looked very resplendent in their formal wear which added to the atmosphere of the evening.

Following coffee, the incoming Head Student, Stuart Austin, farewelled Year 12 students and thanked them for their leadership and fine example over the course of the year.

Head Student, Stephen Gee, responded on behalf of Year 12 and presented the School with a JVC Music Centre to be used in the Upper Secondary Unit.

The Headmaster delivered a very fine speech, as usual, thanking Year 12 for their contribution to School life and reminded them that in years to come they will look back on their time at St. Andrew's as the best years of their lives. The evening concluded with dancing.

CENTENARY YEAR REGISTER
